

A SAFETY MESSAGE FROM POWERCO TO ALL ELECTRICITY CONSUMERS AFFECTED BY FLOODWATERS.

Before re-livening any electrical appliances and household wiring that may have been under floodwater Powerco recommends that you contact your local registered electrician or an electrical inspector for advice.

If your electricity meter has been under floodwaters please contact your energy retailer direct.

Powerco also reminds consumers that all electricity lines should be treated as being live at all times.

Powerco is the network company which manages and operates the electricity distribution lines in your region.
